BOX II. OBSERVATIONS WHERE UNITY OF INVENTION IS LACKING

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1. In order for all inventions to be examined, the appropriate additional examination fees must be paid.

Group I, claim(s) 1-6, and 24-34, drawn to chimeric retrovirus envelope proteins, compositions thereof, and a method of using the composition, wherein the heterologous short peptide ligand is a RGD ligand.

Group II, claim(s) 1-6, and 24-34, drawn to chimeric retrovirus envelope proteins, compositions thereof, and a method of using the composition, wherein the heterologous short peptide ligand is either a HRG or a GRP ligand.

Group III, claim(s) 7-12, drawn to nucleic acids encoding a chimeric envelope protein of a retrovirus.

Group IV, claim(s) 13-16, drawn to methods of altering retroviral tropism.

Group V, claim(s) 17-23, drawn to methods of identifying nucleic acid sequences encoding a chimeric envelope protein.

As indicated below, if the Applicant elects either Group II or Group III to be searched in addition to the invention of Group I, the Applicant must also elect one of the following sub-inventions.

For Group II above, election is also required to one of the following inventions: the protein wherein the heterologous short peptide ligand is A) a HRG ligand, or B) a GRP ligand.

For Group III above, election is also required to one of the following inventions: the nucleic acid wherein the heterologous short peptide ligand is A) a RGD ligand, B) a HRG ligand, or C) a GRP ligand.

The inventions listed as Groups I and II, as subgroups A) and B) to Group II, or subgroups A)-C) of group III do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: each of these inventions relates to a chimeric retroviral envelope protein, or a nucleic acid encoding such, wherein the heterologous ligand has a different structure, and a different binding affinity (thereby performing a different function). The common technical feature among the inventions is the chimeric envelope protein. However, this feature is known in the art as demonstrated by Kasahara et al. (Science Volume 266 No 5189, pages 1373-76 (1994)). Because the common feature is known, there is no common special technical feature, and therefore no unity of invention.

The inventions listed as Groups I-III do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 with the inventions of Groups IV and V because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: the methods of Groups IV and V do not share a common special technical feature with the products of the other Groups because they are not methods of making or using those products. Thus, there is no common special technical feature, and therefore, unity of invention is lacking.

NOTES TO FORM PCT/ISA/220

These Notes are intended to give the basic instructions concerning the filing of amendments under Article 19. The Notes are based on the requirements of the Patent Cooperation Treaty, the Regulations and the Administrative Instructions under that Treaty. In case of discrepancy between these Notes and those requirements, the latter are applicable. For more detailed information, see also the PCT Applicant's Guide, a publication of WIPO.

In these Notes, "Article," "Rule" and "Section" refer to the provisions of the PCT, the PCT Regulations and the PCT Administrative Instructions, respectively.

INSTRUCTIONS CONCERNING AMENDMENTS UNDER ARTICLE 19

The applicant has, after having received the international search report, one opportunity to amend the claims of the international application. It should however be emphasized that, since all parts of the international application (claims, description and drawings) may be amended during the international preliminary examination procedure, there is usually no need to file amendments of the claims under Article 19 except where, e.g. the applicant wants the latter to be published for the purposes of provisional protection or has another reason for amending the claims before international publication. Furthermore, it should be emphasized that provisional protection is available in some States only.

What parts of the international application may be amended ?

Under Article 19, only the claims may be amended.

During the international phase, the claims may also be amended (or further amended) under Article 34 before the International Preliminary Examining Authority. The description and drawings may only be amended under Article 34 before the International Preliminary Examining Authority.

Upon entry into the national phase, all parts of the international application may be amended under Article 28 or, where applicable, Article 41.

When ? Within 2 months from the date of transmittal of the international search report or 16 months from the priority date, whichever time limit expires later. It should be noted, however, that the amendments will be considered as having been received on time if they are received by the International Bureau after the expiration of the applicable time limit but before the completion of the technical preparations for international publication (Rule 46.1).

Where not to file the amendments ?

The amendments may only be filed with the International Bureau and not with the receiving Office or the International Searching Authority (Rule 46.2).

Where a demand for international preliminary examination has been/is filed, see below.

How ? Either by cancelling one or more entire claims, by adding one or more new claims or by amending the text of one or more of the claims as filed.

A replacement sheet must be submitted for each sheet of the claims which, on account of an amendment or amendments, differs from the sheet originally filed.

All the claims appearing on a replacement sheet must be numbered in Arabic numerals. Where a claim is cancelled, no renumbering of the other claims is required. In all cases where claims are renumbered, they must be renumbered consecutively (Administrative Instructions, Section 205(b)).

The amendments must be made in the language in which the international application is to be published.

What documents must/may accompany the amendments ?

Letter (Section 205(b)):

The amendments must be submitted with a letter.

The letter will not be published with the international application and the amended claims. It should not be confused with the "Statement under Article 19(1)" (see below, under "Statement under Article 19(1)").

The letter must be in English or French, at the choice of the applicant. However, if the language of the international application is English, the letter must be in English; if the language of the international application is French, the letter must be in French.
